in the margins of the Convention on Conventional Weapons on

Time to Step-Up the Talks

Confronting concerns about fully autonomous weapons at the CCW and elsewhere

Friday, 13 November

13:15-14:30

Conference Room XI
UN Palais des Nations, Geneva

Sandwiches and refreshments will be provided

Featuring remarks by:

- Mr. Steve Goose, Human Rights Watch
- Prof. Noel Sharkey, International Committee for Robot Arms Control
- Ms. Miriam Struyk, PAX

Moderated by Ms. Mary Wareham, Campaign to Stop Killer Robots.

In this briefing, representatives of Campaign to Stop Killer Robots will assess efforts over the past two years to discuss concerns about lethal autonomous weapons systems at the Convention on Conventional Weapons, including the proposed mandate for next year's work on the topic. They will consider some of the technological trends towards ever-greater autonomy in weapons systems and implications for global security. Finally, they will discuss country-level developments and plans by members of the Campaign to Stop Killer Robots.

No RSVP required. For more information, please see: www.stopkillerrobots.org or contact Ms. Mary Wareham at: Tel. (646) 203-8292, wareham@hrw.org
